mpbeti Tells a Pretty Straight Story, but the Detective is Sure he to Guilty. Charles J. Campbell, the young man who is confined in the Tombs, charged with send-ing the threatening letter signed "A Desperate Devil," to President King of the New York, Lake Erie and Western Bailway, on Monday afternoon, yesterday appeared perfectly cool and collected, and said: In the first place I am not a friend of dynamiters or Anarchists, but have always been a peacable man. I have always had employment, and at the time of my arrest was in re-ceipt of a good salary, and had the respect of my employer. Why, had I written that letter, I must either have been a crank or an insane man, for what possible motive had 1? I was not in need. I was born in New Jersey, and man, for what possible motice and I. I was not in need. I was born in New Jersey, and until 18 years of age I worked on the farm of my adopted parents. Then I went to Columbus, Ohio, and worked as an operator for the Western Union there. I came back to this city in 1882, and since then have worked for several firms—B. F. Hobron, publisher of the Hatter and Farrier, at Broadway and Fourth street; John Kofal of 168 East Fifty-first street, a broker, and Justus Cook, an auctioneer of 112 East 145th street, I live with my mother at 736 Dean street, Brooklyn. My two brothers and myself support her. I would rather die now than have her hear of my arrest until I am released, as she is ill and does not read the papers. I never saw this messenger boy until I was brought face to face with him by the detective at the corner of Beekman and Pearl streets. The boy was evidently very much rightened, and appeared completely demoralized when he said he was certain I was the man who handed him the note on Monday. I think he boy is trying to shield the true criminal."

Nothing in Campbell's appearance indicates the crast. The evidence against him is strong. Detective William Flynn of the Second Precinct police station, who worked up the case and made the arrest, said he was certain of the man's guilt. "The description given me by the messenger. Coffey, tallied precisely with Campbell's writing of hange in his pockstbook, and dampbell's wire shange in his pockstbook, and dampbell's pure, when he was searched, contained several dollars in change. The handwriting of a letter written by Campbell to his employer, Felix F. Daus of il Beekman street, showed many points of similarity to the threatening letter, as did other specimens of Campbell's writing. "Two boys, who are employed in Mr. Daus's office, said yesterday that on Monday svening Campbell was certained to the man was dishonest when in his employ, although he had no direct when in his employ, although he had no direct when in his employ, although he had no direct when in his e until 18 years of age I worked on the farm of

TELEPHONE MEN TALK.

The States Island Company Tells its Story to the Investigating Committee.

The special committee appointed by the Assembly last winter to investigate the standing, methods, charges, and expenses of the telephone companies of the State met yesterday morning at 21 Cortlandt street. It has already met in Utica. Saratoga, Troy. Rochester, and Buffalo. The Hon, D. Ainsworth of Oswego is Chairman. Other members are Assemblymen Floyd J. Hadley of Franklin county, Charles F. Saxton of Wayne, George Dickey of Rockland, and Samuel Conover of West-chester. Proceedings were begun with the ex-Company, represented by President Charles F.

amination of the Staten Island Telephone Company, represented by President Charles F. Cutler and Becretary and Treasurer Joel C. Clark. Mr. Cutler told how the company was formed. Previous to September, 1883, the Island was covered by the lines of the Staten Island Telephone Company, limited. The company had 208 subscribers. The rights of usage were owned by the Metropolitan Telephone Company.

Mr. Gutler purchased the property for $70,.000 cash not including the rights vested in the Metropolitan Company. In so doing he represented a syndicate which immediately afterward resolved itself into the now existing company. No member of the syndicate or present company was interested in the former venture. The new company took the property at $40,000, paying for the same in stock. The right of usage was then purchased of the Metropolitan Telephone Company for $45,000 in stock. Altowsther they now have 500 miles of wire on thirty miles of soles. The number of subscribers has steadily increased, the average for this year being 2594. The rates charged are $60 within the radius of a mile from the central station. Beyond this circle rates vary up to $100. There are four subscribers at $120. Public offices, five in number, are furnished free. Two charitable institutions come in at $23, and one at $40. From the ornizal station, the profits to the plant, including the $45,000 paid in for right of way, has been: For 1883, $67 per cent.; for 1884, $67 per cent.; for 1885, $6.14 per cent. Many complaints of bad service were owing to the close approach of electric light wires to the telephone wires.

THE SON OF A GERMAN COLONEL. Bester to Cut His Log Off.

Edward von Neidhammer, a native of Stuttgardt, and the son of a Colonel in the came a black sheep and was ostracized from his home. He came to this country, and, al-though his friends for a time prevented him though his friends for a time prevented him from going utterly to the bad, they got tired of having him waste their substance, as well as his own, in rictous living, and left him to his own deviess. He finally got to be a barroom loafer and little better than a tramp. His habits and the hardships they occasioned affected his mind, and he is now under treatment for insanity at Believue Hospital. His insanity manifested litself on Wednesday night, when he entered Kalbfielsch's saloon at 86 Becond avenue, his favorite resort, and called for pen, naper, and witnesses. He then proceeded to make his will, after which he summoned a doctor to cut off his leg. His deluxion was that it was so diseased that it ought to be removed, and that he wouldn't survive the operation.

John Poley's Figures Verified.

John Foley sent Col. Fellows a check for $1,000 for his campaign expenses on Nov. 3, and predicted his election by a majority of 23,000 or 25,000. The sequel has verified Mr. Foley's estimate of the majority. This is his letter:

Oct. John R. Fellows.

My Dran Sin: After your long, faithful, and successful work in the public service, and your well-deserved reputation as a terror to evil-doers. I am mortified to see the disgraceful insults beaued upon you.

The noble action of Abram S. Hewitt, the most efficient and devoted Mayor we have ever had, in asking the good people of our city to sustain him and his excellent work in the name of better government by voting for your ejection to the office of District Attorney next Tuesday, cannot fail to satisfy all citizens of your preëminent ability and honesty. Your ejection with 25,000 to 25,000 majority, is, I think, certain.

election with 23,000 to 25,000 majority, is, I think, certain.

Kindly accept check herein toward your heavy expenses. Regret I cannot make it $5,000 or $10,000. Always yours.

JOHN FOLEY, 18 John street.

New York, Nov. 8.

The City Wins a Suit for Damages, Ann Slevin sued the city of New York to secover $10,000 damages for personal injuries which she alleged she sustained by falling upon a defective sidewalk upon which the city had negligently allowed snow and ice to accumulate. From the evidence of the plaintiff and her witnesses it appeared that in East Fourher witnesses it appeared that in East Four-teenth street a cartway led across the sidewalk from the entrance of a brewery to the roadway, which was raised several inches above the adjacent flagstones, and that it was rendered amooth by ice which had been allowed to remain upon it for several days prior to the accident. On the part of the city, however, it was shown that for a week or more prior to the accident the temperature had been uniformly above the freezing point, and that there had been several storms of rain, and it further appeared in avidence that on the day before the accident, and during the morning of the accident, and for several hours after the accident, a heavy snowstorm was in progress. Witnesses for the city further swors that both sides of the cartway were level with the adjoining flagstones. The jury rendered a verdict in flavor of the city.

On election night two officers of the Old slip police station found a large trunk on the sidewalk in front of 16 William street. At the station it was found to contain about $300 worth of handsome dresses, which were thought to belong to an actress. Yestsrday morning the trunk was claimed by Anthony Muller, a william street merchant, living at 32 West Thirty-firsh street. It had been left on the midswalk by a drayman, who was moving some of Mr. Muller's property which was stored at the above number. The trunk contained his wider surprises octumes.

ELECTION STORM GROUND SWELL What] the Breeklyn Politicians Say and Propose About the Result.

There is a disposition among some of the Republican leaders in Brooklyn to dispute the fairness of the election, and one of the evening papers yesterday represented Chairman Willia of the Campaign Committee as saying that there were evidences of fraud in the Mayorality count, and that it was probable that an inves-tigation would be demanded. On Wednesday, nowever, Mr. Willis said to a reporter of THE Sun that he had no reason to suppose that Mr. Chapin had not been fairly elected. Bo far as can be learned, the story of fraud is absolutely groundless, and is simply an indication of the great disappointment of the Republican states-men. Ex-Mayor Seth Low yesterday expressed his surprise over the defeat in the State, and accounted for it by the wide spread distrust of the present State management and tendencies. John Courtney, the candidate for Civil Justice in the First district, polled more votes than any other candidate on the Democratic local ticket, his plurality being 6,379. Had he been nominated for Sherif, instead of Air. Furey, the Democratic victory would have been complete, and the Republicans would not have the rich office as the sole consolation in their defeat. A revision of the election figures yearerday increased the plurality of John A. Quintard, the candidate for Supervisor at Large, to 1.485 in the county.

The United Labor party does not seem to be discouraged over the result. Chairman Victor A. Wilder of the Campaign Committee yeaterday issued an address to his forces, in which this appears: his surprise over the defeat in the State, and this appears:

To merrow we will start afreah. Let us organize everywhere, agitate everywhere. We appeal to the rank and file of the old political parties to think, now that the election is over, now that they no longer need to stiffe their conscience from a mistaken loyalty to parties. We appeal from "Philip drunk to Philip sober."

appeal from "Philip drunk to Philip sobet."

Discussion has already been started as to whether Mr. Chapin will commence his administration by retaining the present heads of departments or whether he will select a new set of men for his scabinet. In the best-informed Demogratic circles it is confidently expected that there will be a change in at least two or three of the departments. The Mayor elect will not indicate what his policy will be in this respect, and nothing positive is likely to be known on the subject until he takes office.

THE CASE OF BROKER BLIVEN.

His Degree of Complicity in the Crime For Which He is in Jali.

The application for a certificate of reasonble doubt in the case of Broker Courtlandt N. Bliven, convicted of having procured the per-Roll, which has already home denied by Judge Bartlett, was yesterday argued before Judge Dykman, at White Plains, by Lawyer Wernberg for the defence and Prosecutor Clark for the people. The question turns upon the wording of the indictment. The defence claim that Mr. Bliven was charged with having directly and personally performed the operation or procured it to be performed, and that the proof cured it to be performed, and that the proof showed he had simply advised the woman some weeks before to submit to an operation. The prosecution assert that by giving such advice Mr. Bilven made himself a principal in the second degree, and his act was properly covered by the indictment. Judge Dykman reserved his decision.

This application to Judge Dykman is made under the same law which permitted the application made to Judge Potter of Whitehall in the case of Jacob Sharp, and which allows application to be made to each of the thirty Superan Court Judges in the State. Mr. Wernberg applied to Judge Donohoe after Judge Bartlett's denial, but Judge Donohoe thought it would be better not to take the question out of the Second district. If the application is granted it will stay the execution of the sentence of three years and six months in Sing Bing prison until the case comes up before the General Term next month. Meanwhile Mr. Bilven remains in jail, a temporary stay having been granted by Judge Dykman.

Reports of the Season's Cotton Crop Send

Prices Up with a dump. The cotton brokers made things lively on their Exchange yesterday. They whooped prices up five-eighths of a cent a pound, actually traded in nearly $00,000 bales, inci-dentally troubled the souls of certain big bears who were reported to be heavily "short" of the staple, and wound up the day by assertof the stable, and wound up the day by asserting that nearly 500,000 bales changed hands during the session. It was the brightest day in five years among the cotton brokers.

The excitement has been gathering volume since last Saturday, when the Cotton World, an authority on cotton in New Orleans, printed the statement that the crop would be about 6,225,258 bales. The bears had accepted figures to the effect that the crop was 6,696,000 bales. An upward movement in prices was started, and what many spoke of as the zenith was reached yesterday, when the Agricultural Bureau of Washington issued a statement giving the crop figures at 6,300,000 bales. This substantiation of the Cotton World's figures created a panic among the bears, and in their scramble to get under cover prices were materially advanced. The bulls also assisted the upward movement by liberal purchases.

At the close of the day there was a slight reaction from the highest figures. This was considered incidental to the realizing on many of sidered incidental to the realizing on many of action from the highest figures. This was considered incidental to the realizing on many of the day's purchases. As the figures stood last night cotton has gone up about one cent a pound since last Friday night.

Mrs. Clews Will Keep Her Diamonds. The case of Alfred H.Smith & Co. against Henry Clews, the banker, was concluded today before Judge Donohue and a jury in the Supreme Court, by a decision in favor of Mr. Clews. In 1879 Mr. Clews bought a pair of diamonds for his wife from a diamond broker named Miers, and paid for them. Two or three months later Alfred H. Smith & Co., who are months later Alfred H. Smith & Co., who are diamond dealers, called upon Mr. Clews and demanded the diamonds, and not getting them brought a suit to recover the diamonds, and the case has been in the courts ever since. Smith & Co. claim that Miers came to them in April, 1879, and said that he had a customer. Mr. Clews, who wanted to buy a pair of diamond earrings, and that thereupon they gave him such a pair as he thought Mr. Clews would like to buy, sending them to the man Miers through another street broker in diamonds named Flumb, who took a receipt from Miers, stating that the diamonds had been received by Miers to show to his customer, and containing a clause that the title was to remain in Smith & Co. The Court decides that this extra clause in the receipt amounts to nothing.

Dr. Lucen Wanted to Marry Her.

The case of Dr. Paul Lucca of 327 West Twenty-first street, charged with the larceny of $250 from Mrs. Catherine Stendle of 112 Jef-ferson street, Hoboken.came up before Justice afternoon. It is alleged that Lucca, whose ago is 35, induced the widow Stendle, aged 50, under promise of marriage, to draw the money from the Bowery Bank in this city. She refused to deliver it to him until the marriage knot was tied, whereupon, it is said, Lucca took it from her pocket. When arraigned, the defendant offered to marry Mrs. Stendle, but she refused to accept him. He then offered to refund the money, which he has placed in bank. Justice Gorman adjourned the case until Saturday.

He has recently published a biographical sketch of Mrs. Abigail Leonard. lady of his parish, who died at the age of 100 lady of his parish, who died at the age of 100 years and 8 months. In it he discusses the question how to live to be a centenarian, and what he says may well be received as the testimony of one who knows. He presented a copy of his publication to the eminent French scientist, Dr. Michel Eugene Chevreul, who was 101 years old on the 31st of August last, and Dr. Chevreul received it at his residence in Paris with manifest satisfaction.

Is There a Negro in this Fence!

Alderman Van Rensselaer called the attention of the Board yesterday to the suspiciously large number of fences of vacant lots ordered by the Board. He had come to the conclusion that the chief reason why so many of these fences were ordered was because somebody wanted to use them for advertising purposes.

Petition for a Washington Heights Cable Owners of property at Washington Heights, under the lead of Cable Fuller, petitioned the Aldermen yesterday to authorize the building of a cable road along 155th street from Mc-Comb's Dam to the Hudson River. The subject was referred to the Committee on Bailroads.

BEECHER'S PICTURES SOLD.

Fair Prices in Spite of an Old Law and the Ralay Wenther.

Henry Ward Beecher's paintings were sold yesterday at the rooms of the American Art Association, in the face of two difficulties. The first was Mayor Hewitt's recent notification to all auctioneers of paintings and drawings that sales must be made only between sunrise and sunset, in accordance with a law passed thirty years ago, when pinchbeck watches were sold at night auctions in Chatham street and countrymen were fooled by having brass sold to them for gold. For some occult reason paintings and drawings were included in the law. Yesterday's sale was the first under the Mayor's enforcement of the law. The other difficulty was the rainy weather. Nevertheless, there was a good attendance, and the prices obcused of Bad Conduct. Bridge Trustees Higgins, Thurber, and Keany, the special committee appointed to nvestage alleged outrages on the part of bridge policemen toward citizens, resumed its labors yesterday with closed doors. President Howall said that the committee would not disclose the proceedings until the close of the investigation, and also that complaints must be presented in writing before Nov. 30.

Charles A. Davids, a mechanical engineer of 61 Patchen avenue, made a written complaint against Policeman Renz. He said that he had been arrested in October, 1885, by Renz for alleged disorderly conduct at the Sands street entrance, and that on the following morning he was admitted to bail by Justice Walsh. Two wacks later, he said, while he was on the bridge platform, itenz rushed at him without any provocation, and seizing him by the neck choked him shamefully. Subsequently the District Attorney told him that he had been indicted, but that if he pleaded guilty the prosecution would be dropped. He refused to plead guilty, and so far has not been summoned for trial. Policeman Henz explained the circumstances under which Mr. Davids was arrested, and alleged that the latter attempted to strike him with his umbrella. He was corroborated by Policeman Grady. Mr. Davids did not appear, although he had promised to be present at the investigation.

No other case was considered vesterday, and close the proceedings until the close of the in-investigation.

No other case was considered yesterday, and the committee adjourned for a week.

On a warrant issued yesterday by Justice Patterson at Jefferson Market, Detective Ser-geants Tissaro and Bruner of the Central Office arrested Andrew Massante, a grocer of 62 Watts street, who had threatened to kill on sight Mrs. Mary Rocca, a countrywoman of his, Seven years ago Mary descried her husband and fied to Brazil with Massante. unhappily together, and some six months ago she left her paramour, returned to this city, and begged her husband Dominick, a clerk in Washington Market, to forgive her. The husband took her back.

Massaute, hearing that his victim had come to this city, followed her, arriving a month ago. Since that time he has haunted the neighborhood of Spring street, where Mrs. Becca resided. He was constantly armed with a revolver, and often expressed himself to several people that he would kill Mary Rocca on sight. She feared to leave the house, as she was positive he would carry out his threat. Massante was held for trial.

Gideon Passipple, an Italian barber, 25 years old. of Tenth avenue and 125th street, was a prisoner yesterday at Jefferson Market Court. Mattie Morello, a widow of 41 Bleecker street, accused him of attempted felonions assault. On Nov. 7 Fassippie nimed a loaded pistol at her, and threatened to kill her if she did not return and live with him as his mistress. He gave her two days to consider the matter and left. When he appeared yosterday to carry out his threat he was arrested. She said he was a member of a gang of counterfeiters and assassins who call themselves the Commosociis, and she feared for her life if he was free.

Passipple claimed that Mattle had run away from her husband and had lived with him for three months at Providence, R. I. Justice Patterson committed him to the Island.

The Emigrant Commission in Distress

A special meeting of the Commissioners of Emigration was held yesterday afternoon. The Commissioners are without funds to run their department, and have several times called upon the Secretary of the Treasury for called upon the Secretary of the Treasury for money, but have received no replies. A letter from Dr. Thomas, at Ward's Island, said that about $5,000 was needed there at once for provisions. The Commissioners are nearly $4,000 in debt, and have a daily expense of about $500. They have on hand $135. A resolution was passed asking that a paper be circulated for the signatures of the employees, agreeing to waive all claims against the Commissioners as individuals. It is probable that the Commissioners will pay all current expenses.

Couldn't Stand His Singing.

Last March Austin F. Remsen was expelled from the Brooklyn Athletic Association for amusing himself and some associates by for amusing himself and some associates by singing songs in the parlor of the club house one Sunday. The Governors decided that such conduct on his part was unbecoming a gentleman, and refused to reinstate him. Mr. Remsen brought an action to enjoin the club and its officers from interfering with his rights as a member, and there was an argument in the case before Justice Cullen in the Supreme Court yesterday. It was claimed that the rules of the club were violated, the accused member not having been given an opportunity to defend himself. Decision was reserved.
